

Medicated IUD: Contraception and none contraception benefits

Amos Ber, Israel

The LNG-IUS has been on the market for over 20 years and proved itself as a highly efficient contraceptive with many added non contraceptive benefits.

It has become the first line choice of medical treatment for heavy menstrual bleeding in many countries equal or better than surgical solutions.

It is used successfully as the progestagenic arm of HRT and is used for treatment of pain resulting from Endometriosis or Adenomyosis.

It seems that it is better tolerated and has less side effects and higher success rate in treating endometrial hyperplasia than Progesterone.
