

Johannes Attems is Professor of Neuropathology and Consultant Pathologist at Newcastle University. He is director of the Newcastle Brain Tissue Resource and also active in research networks for brain banking, such as the Medical Research UK Brain Banks Network and Brains for Dementia Research, where he chairs the Neuropathology Proceedings group. Attems is member of the Alzheimer's Research UK Grant Review Board and together with Werner Paulus Editor in Chief of Acta Neuropathologica Communications. His research focuses on age associated neurodegeneration and cerebrovascular disease where he leads several clinico-pathological correlative studies. So far, he published over 140 scientific articles and his h-factor is 28.