

Short bio: Andreas Charidimou MD MSc PhD

I have completed my PhD studies at the UCL Institute of Neurology, Queen Square, London. My research interests are in applied clinical neuroimaging of cerebral small vessel disease with a special focus on cerebral amyloid angiopathy and intracerebral haemorrhage. I am currently working on these aspects at the Hemorrhagic Stroke Research Program (PI: Prof Steven M. Greenberg), Massachusetts General Hospital, Harvard Medical School, US.