Controversies in Ophthalmology

1st World Congress on Controversies in

Ophthalmology

Prague, Czech Republic • March 4-7, 2010

Industry Sponsorship and Exhibition Prospectus

WELCOME NOTE

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

Over the years, the field of ophthalmology has undergone an enormous expansion in clinical and basic data as well as in field-related technology. The problem of ophthalmic diseases, including macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy, cataract, and glaucoma has reached epidemiological dimensions, and treatment possibilities are being explored in different directions. The fields of dry eye, refractive surgery, oculoplastics, advances in IOLs, and socioeconomic issues also have contributed to the need to debate the many controversial issues, which come up in clinical situations each and every day.

The World Congress on Controversies in Ophthalmology (COPHy) is intended to be exclusive forum for international experts to share and compare experiences, in order to outline the potentially best treatments for patients within these controversial areas. A congress focusing on controversies is a new concept. There is little available in peer-reviewed literature on controversies in ophthalmology, so there is a perceived need to enable an effective debate about unresolved issues, often resulting in agreed-upon answers supported by evidence-based medicine and expert opinion.

Participants will have the advantage to discuss and debate these unresolved issues with leading world experts in all fields of ophthalmology. The Congress aims to reach the best answers currently possible and provide the clinician with reliable, up-to-date scientific solutions, based on the best existing evidence.

We invite you to take part in The World Congress on Controversies in Ophthalmology (COPHy), which is intended to be the inaugural event of many future editions.

We look forward to an exciting event in the beautiful city of Prague.

Prof. Anat Loewenstein

Co-Chairpersons

Prof. Neil Bressler

CONGRESS GOALS

- Discuss etiology, management and new developments in a wide range of clinical dilemmas based on evidence and expert opinion
- Reach the best clinical recommendation to current therapeutic dilemmas
- Stimulate new research into currently unsolved controversies, promote education and public awareness

TENTATIVE PROGRAM

Section: GLAUCOMA-MEDICAL AND SURGICAL TREATMENT?

- Capsule: The choice of glaucoma treatment remains the main clinical challenge!
- Debate: What should be the primary surgical procedure for glaucoma?
Tube Shunt is more effective and is preferable!
Trabeculectomy results in a more predictive response!
- Debate: Management of ocular hypertension
The ocular hypertension treatment study “intraocular pressure lowering” prevents the development of glaucoma. Does this not mean we should treat before the onset of disease?
Patients with ocular hypertension should be treated promptly
- Debate: Selective laser trabeculoplasty, does it play a role?
Yes: TBA
No: TBA

Round table discussion: FAILED TRABECULECTOMY- WHAT’S NEXT?

- Prostaglandin analog. Should it be the first form of treatment in glaucoma patient?
What should be the additional agent if the first treatment does not sufficiently lower the pressure?
- Debate: Prostaglandins following intraocular surgery
Yes: They lower intraocular pressure effectively
No: They may exacerbate cystoid macular edema

Section: OCULOPLASTIC SURGERY

- Capsule: Oculoplastic surgery is a rapidly developing field, but many issues in the medical and surgical management of patients are still controversial
- Debate: Endoscopic or external dacryocystorhinostomy (DCR): Which is preferable for naso-lacrimal duct obstruction in adults?
Endoscopic DCR! It is less invasive and the results are comparable!
External DCR! It is cheaper and the success rate is higher!
- Debate: Excision of periocular and eyelid tumors: What is the preferred surgical technique?
• Moh’s technique has the advantage of tissue preservation and a higher success rate!
• Frozen section is quicker, cheaper, and the outcome is comparable to Moh’s surgery!
- Debate: Steroids or radiotherapy for the management of sight threatening Grave’s orbitopathy?
• Systemic steroids provide the quickest response with no ocular side-effects!
• Radiotherapy is highly efficient and has no systemic side-effects!
- Debate: What is the best timing for probing in congenital naso-lacrimal duct obstruction?
• Early probing in the first few months of life will reduce the rate of late probing!
• Most cases resolve by the age of 12 months, and therefore early probing is not required!

Section: RETINA

Session: Age Related Macular Degeneration - (AMD)

Capsule: Anti-angiogenic¹ drugs are effective but are they being overused?

Debate: What should be the leading anti-angiogenic protocol for treatment of AMD?
Pros: Repeated monthly injection results in the most optimal visual acuity and morphological outcome!
Cons: Three consecutive injections followed by PRN treatment are safer and as effective!

Session Photodynamic Therapy (PDT)

Capsule: With the new modern means of treatment the question remaining is whether it should be continued

Debate: Should we stop using PDT?
Yes:
No:

Session: Fluorescein angiography (FA)

Debate: Should we keep using FA in the management of retinal disease?
Proposition: FA has no place in the management of retinal disease!
Opposition: FA should be an important diagnostic modality and should be routinely used!

Debate: Diabetic retinopathy and other retinal vascular diseases. Should we start with laser treatment or anti-angiogenic drugs?
Proposition: Laser treatment is the only proven therapy for vascular retinal disease
Opposition: Anti-angiogenic treatment should be the primary treatment

Round table discussion: INTRAVITREAL INJECTION

Technique
Prevention of infection
What is the role of ICG in neovascular AMD?

Session: Surgical dilemmas

Debate: Should we "Buckle-up" or not?
Yes: Correction of pseudophakic retinal detachment is incomplete without buckling!
No: Buckling in a Pseudophakic retinal detachment correction is time consuming and unnecessary!

Round table discussion: RETINAL DISEASE

Questions:

- Role of vitrectomy in the management of diabetic macular edema.
- Role of removing of vitreomacular traction in the management of choroidal neovascularization.
- Timing for removal of intraocular foreign body and in perforating blunt trauma
- Surgery for lamellar macular hole.
- Treatment of large extensive lattice degeneration in young patients? Fellow eye? Creating a new ora?

Section: CATARACT

Session: Lenses After Cataract Surgery

Capsule: Despite increasing experience, the implant of postsurgical lenses for cataracts remains controversial!

Debate: Aspheric lenses, Are these important?
Yes, significantly improves quality of life.
No, the patient does not notice the differences!

Debate: Do presbyopic lenses actually work?
Yes:
No:

Round table discussion: MANAGEMENT OF CATARACTS

Questions:

Technique & instruments

- Torsional or longitudinal technique?
- The difference between the new technologies: Infinity, White star, Stelaris
- Is a less than 2 mm incision important?, is there a difference between MICS-B (microincision biaxial incision) and MICS- C (microincision coaxial incision)?
- Corneal incision, does it increase risk for endophthalmitis?

Intraocular lenses (IOLs)

- Yellow tinted lenses, Are they important?
- Monofocal or multifocal IOLs?
- Pro and cons of Refractive lens exchange

Endophthalmitis

- Fourth-generation antibiotics for endophthalmitic prophylaxis
- Is an intracameral antibiotic needed for prophylaxis?

Section: CORNEAL DISEASE

Session: Corneal Ulcers

Round table discussion: TOPICAL STEROIDS IN CORNEAL ULCERS

Questions:

- What is the role of topical steroids for healing corneal ulcers?
- Do we use steroids or antibiotics in marginal corneal ulcers?

Debate: Sight-threatening central corneal ulcer:
Fortified antibiotics
Fourth-generation fluoroquinolones

Session: KERATOPLASTY

Debate: Anterior Lamellar Keratoplasty for keratoconus and keratoectasia
Big Bubble DALK
Microkeratome - assisted anterior lamellar keratoplasty

Round table discussion: KERATOPLASTY FOR ENDOTHELIAL FAILURE

Questions:

- When should each be preferable: Penetrating Keratoplasty and/or Descemet-Stripping-Automated endothelial Keratoplasty?
- How should Fuchs' endothelial dystrophy be managed with a clear lens?
- Retention of an anterior chamber intraocular lens in DSAEK

Session: REFRACTIVE SURGERY

Round table discussion: KERATOREFRACTIVE PROCEDURES

Questions:

- Surface ablation or flap for a "perfect candidate"?
 - Mechanical microkeratome or femtosecond laser?
 - Mitomycin C for surface ablation: Yes or no, (and when)?

Round table discussion: REFRACTIVE SURGERY

Questions:

- How should three diopters of astigmatism be treated: Relaxing incisions (blade or laser), excimer (flap or surface) or toric phakic IOL?
- Multifocal or monofocal corneal ablation in a presbyope?
- Multifocal or monofocal lens implants in a presbyope?

Session: KERATOCONUS AND KERATOECTASIA

Round table discussion: COLLAGEN CROSSES LINKING

Questions:

- When should an unstable keratoconus eye be treated?
- Should the fellow eye be treated?
- When should a post-LASIK keratoectatic eye be treated?
- Should the fellow eye be treated?

Session: PTERYGIUM

Debate: Management of Recurrent Pterygium
Mitomycin C?
Conjunctival Autograft?

Section: NEUROPTHALMOLOGY

Debate: what is the best treatment for Pseudotumor cerebri
Medical?
Surgical?

Debate: Does a patient with NA-AION need coagulation evaluation?
Are IV steroids indicated in every case of A-AION?
Anti-platelet agents?

Section: GENERAL

Debate: Industry funding for continuing medical education It is unethical and should be avoided!
Continuing Medical education is supported and enriched by industry support!

Debate: Industry funding clinical trial
It is unethical and should be avoided!
Drug development by industry is crucial and should be encouraged!

Debate: Using a Drug Before the Risks and Benefits Are Known From a Phase 3 Clinical Trial
Yes:
No:

Surface ablation or flap for a “perfect candidate”?
Mechanical microkeratome or femtosecond laser?
Mitomycin c for surface ablation: Yes or not (and when)?
